Holding It Lightly

The question on the table was, "How do we hold it together to keep it from falling apart and still let it grow?"

I am learning about plants and gardening. I recently transplanted a houseplant from a small container to a larger one and it is not doing well. In my effort to let it grow, I'm learning that it was perfectly happy being held together in its original pot. Some things like predictable and defined spaces.

There is a flowering plant in the front yard that my husband said was getting "leggy." Cut it back, he suggested. I was hesitant. Those legs had flowers on them, green leaves and dots of color. Should I cut off what looked to be living? I learned that cutting it back gave it the strength and room it needed to grow. Some things like to pare down to the essentials in order to flourish.

The question on the table, "How do we hold it together to keep it from falling apart and still let it grow" had nothing to do with plants, however. The question was posed by a group of clergy sitting around a table at clergy conference and talking about leading congregations. It is the pondering of every priest I know when it comes to congregational life and the continued health of our church.

It is a tough job, no doubt. Our society is more and more less inclined to go to church, and so the pressure to attract others is strong. The financial position of many is tenuous, and yet the church depends on the finances of others. The big picture of congregational life and growth is often situated with a few, yet the changes that occur impact many. Despite genuine efforts, it is difficult to take a group of 50, 100, 150, 200 people and ensure that each person is happy, satisfied, in agreement and on the same page. The church is our sanctuary from the world, it needs to a place of refuge. The church is the prophetic voice of the world, it needs to be a place of demonstrating change. There is always that tension between holding it together and letting it grow – with plants and with parishes.

After some wrestling, the wisdom at the table came up with the obvious, yet not easy, answer. The answer is to hold it, but hold it lightly. When we grasp too tightly, the Spirit finds a hard time getting in and moving about. When we are reckless and let it all go, the Spirit has nothing much to work with. So hold it, but hold it lightly.

I've taken this wisdom with me into many areas of life. In difficult situations that involve many, I hold it lightly, lest I try to manipulate the outcome I'm hoping for. In unknown situations that make me uneasy, I hold it lightly, lest I mistake the mind of God with my own mind. In tense situations where not everyone is pleased, I hold it lightly lest I let my impulse to please cloud the important and sometimes uncomfortable work of transformation.

Perhaps the wisdom of holding it lightly applies to places in your own life. If so, I invite you to put your hands out and be gentle. Hold it together and let it grow, whatever it may be.

Stewardship Corner

What a wonderful blessing it is to have enough resources that we can fund our operating costs and also take care of our buildings and grounds. I have heard some concerns expressed over having only one fund, the Operating Fund, to pledge to for next year. This doesn't mean the Building Fund is going away. The Building Fund will continue to exist with the Vestry allocating what is needed to ensure that we keep on taking care of our buildings and grounds. This essentially makes it easier for you and me because we no longer will have to decide how much should we give to Operating and how much to Building. The Vestry is better equipped and informed to make those decisions.

I remember when Tom and I first began attending St. James'. For a long time I thought the Building Fund was setting money aside for a future building project. I thought that was a very responsible (and hopeful) way of planning for the future. Then I learned the Building Fund was the vehicle for paying off the mortgage and taking care of the maintenance of the church. When the mortgage was paid off and there were no immediate plans to build, the Building Fund continued to be used for maintenance.

How do I determine how much I should pledge to Building? Our building and grounds are in good shape! We have and are right now putting a sizeable amount of money into the care and preservation of our facilities. The people of St. James' have a fine reputation of taking care of the physical plant so that St. James' is an inviting and welcoming place to come to worship. I believe that will remain, and I am confident that the Vestry will continue that tradition. I am comfortable knowing you and I will hold them accountable.

My favorite stewardship verse is Luke 12:34 - "for where your treasure is, there your heart will be also." Jesus teaches us that what we care about most determines the priorities of our hearts. It means that what we do with our money (and our time and talent) shows what our hearts care about most. What we do with our possessions is a sure indicator of what is in our hearts. So let's give and pledge from our hearts to carry out the many wonderful ministries St. James' has to offer.

I hope I see you Sunday, November 18th, at 5:00pm for dinner and "Stewardship, The Musical" at St. James'. I know it will be an enjoyable evening of fun, food, and fellowship. It you haven't signed up, you may do so right up to November 18th by calling Gail Blalock at (510) 490-7565.

Don't forget Pledge Sunday is November 25th when pledges for 2013 will be collected and blessed at both Services. A special coffee hour will be hosted by the Stewardship Committee also following both services. Pledge forms will be mailed to everyone the first week of November and may be turned in at any time. Pledge forms turned in prior to November 25th will be included in the blessing on Pledge Sunday.

Your pledge is important to continue the ministries at St. James' Church. If you are hesitant to pledge, please know you can modify your pledge at any time by contacting the Parish Treasurer or sending email to treasurer@saintj.com

My dream, unlike George's in "Stewardship The Musical", is to have 100 percent participation for 2013. Please help make my dream come true!

Gail Blalock, Stewardship Chair

Thanksgiving Service

StJ Youth

Over a year ago, StJ Youth began a course called Confirm not Conform (CnC) which ,while being a comprehensive course of preparation for confirmation developed by an Episcopal church, is not as restricted as the courses many of us followed.

CnC encourages young people (and adults) to think about their own beliefs as well as those of others, to learn about heretics and unpick the Nicene Creed and what it is saying as well as to find out about the Episcopal Church and what the promises of baptism and confirmation in the church really say. The group at St. James' has been supported by mentors who have attended some of the meetings, supported conversations and prayed for the young people on the course.

Successful completion of the Confirm not Conform course is not confirmation but is about being able to make a mature and informed decision about confirmation. As the course has reached its end, each teenager has to decide for themselves whether they are ready to make the commitments of confirmation, and as leaders we celebrate the fact that 10 young people have reached this point through this course.

A group of young people from St James' will make the pilgrimage to Grace Cathedral on Saturday, November 10th, for the Confirmation service at 11:00am. On Sunday, November 11th, we will celebrate the work of all the youth group during this course at the 10.30am service when we will see the young people in action and hear from them during the service. We hope you will join us in celebrating this important step in the spiritual lives of all the young people involved.

If you would like to travel to Grace Cathedral for the confirmation and would like to carpool or join others on BART, please contact Laura Winter (jrwarden@saintj.com 510-364-5404.)

Book Review By John Maloney

Mothers, Sisters, Daughters: Standing on Their Shoulders

As my granddaughter Jackie left to start her college years at the University of California, San Diego in mid-September, I gave her a copy of this lovely and strong book, Mothers, Sisters, Daughters: Standing on Their Shoulders by Edwina Gateley (Orbis Books, 2012, $20). I hope she will read it and that it enriches her spirit.

This book was developed from a women's retreat to explore the stories of significant women who had made a difference in the world, whose courage and determination serve as an inspiration for today's women: politicians, mystics, religious women, poets, women from Scripture, environmentalists, and others. Each in her own way brought some light into the world. This book is presented with the belief that we can tap into the energy of individuals who have gone before us.

There are 22 short chapters, one for each woman presented. Each chapter provides a brief biography of the selected woman, a free verse reflection on the beauty of her life, and a striking pencil sketch of her face by artist Sandra Mattucci.

Perhaps someday, someone will write Fathers, Sons, Brothers: Standing on Their Shoulders.

Ten top reasons of 20 why I hope Jackie reads this book.

1. Emily Dickinson: 'We thank you, Emily ... at your persistent quest for God ... Where Thou art that is home."'

2. Catherine Pye Gateley: the author's mother, widow-mother of three-bus conductress for over 30 years in Lancaster, England; doing the extraordinary in an ordinary way.

3. Mechtild of Magdeburg (one of my favorites): one of the greatest and bravest of medieval lay women, a German mystic. "...in an all-male institution/How dared you speak aloud?"

4. Wangari Muta Maathai: From Kenya, the first black woman and first environmentalist to win the Nobel Peace Prize. "You became a warrior, Wangari! ... you suffered for your passion/But you rose up again/like the trees ... "

5. Perna Chadron: This Catholic-raised New York City woman eventually became the first American Buddhist nun and abbess. After her second husband had an affair and asked for a divorce, she reflected, "There was no thought, no time, there was nothing ... then I picked up a stone and threw it at him."

6. Brenda Myers Powell: Starting at 14years of age, she began a 24 year life of prostitution in Chicago before entering the author's Recovery House in Chicago. " ... down there in that darkness/Rising like the phoenix."

7. Sister Karen Klimczak: "You loved the unlovable ... 'She hit me in the heart,' declared one offender [a violent prison inmate]."

8. The Syro-Phoenician Woman Found in Mark and Matthew: a foreigner, an outcast, a woman who challenges Jesus' refusal to heal her sick daughter to show God's love and mercy is for all. "I don't fit, belong/Whatever."

9. Lucy Wisdom: "You died too soon, Lucy/ Lover of creation and protector of its leaping creatures [orangutans] ."

10. Miriam: sister of Moses. "Ah! You danced in joy and gratitude ... First woman in all of Israel to be called/Prophet."

StJ Kids at Abode

Sometimes we all have a chance to see what a difference we can make. Sometimes we can step back and see the product of our labors. Sometimes we have to plant seeds and never see them grow. I think outreach work can be any of these. Our new outreach ministry at Abode, working with the Kids Club for two nights a month, has already produced for me a few of those moments when you can really see what a difference you can make . I want to share some of those moments with you.

We visit Sunrise Village for two nights each month to run their Kids Club. We spend an hour each night and tell a story, do a couple of crafts and share a snack with the kids and their regular volunteers. Last month we made sock puppet dragons to help illustrate the story "The Paperbag Princess," a tale where the princess outwits the dragon to save the ungrateful prince. The easiest way for the kids to make the puppets was to have a volunteer put the sock on their own hand while the child applied glue and felt decoration wherever they wanted to create their own dragon. Think about it – a 5 year old boy knowing he has the complete attention of a teen more than twice his height to help make his very own dragon. While we are not preaching the word of God we are certainly showing his love and attention. I could see that the child spent almost as long watching the face of the teenager as he did gluing on patches to his dragon – delighted by the attention as much as the activity.

The following night we took melty beads along. If you have never had the pleasure of making things with these, you will not know the frustration they can be, particularly to adult fingers trying to put small beads on even smaller posts to make a design and then have it ironed (or melted) to hold together. I watched a 4th grade girl relish the time she spent making her own design while delegating 2 other volunteers to help her find the right colors and even start a second design (for her mom!)!!! The time she was given, when she was the center of the activity, was invaluable to her self-esteem.

I heard a week later that our sock dragons were still being played with and the kids look forward to us visiting again. Thank you for supporting this ministry – to those who volunteer and for all the prayers.

St. James Welcomes the Christmas Season with Las Posadas

A Family Holiday Celebration for All Ages

Sunday, December 2nd
5:00pm to 7:00pm
On the St. James' Campus

In Mexico, Christmas is an important holiday season with strong traditions. One of the most colorful traditions is the posada party, celebrated every evening from December 16th until the 24th. These celebrations commemorate Mary and Joseph's cold and difficult journey from Nazareth to Bethlehem in search of shelter. "Posada" in Spanish simply means lodging or shelter.

Today, the posada has evolved into a religious and social celebration, paying a festive homage to Mary and Joseph's journey. Each Christmas season, a procession carrying a doll representing the Christ Child and images of Joseph and Mary riding a burro walk through the community streets. The processional stops at a previously selected home and asks for lodging for the night. The people are invited in to read scriptures and sing Christmas carols called "villancicos." Refreshments are provided by each host. The happy end to each posada has always been the piñata.

St. James' takes the spirit of the traditional nine-day Posada Celebration and brings it to our campus, refashioned for our community on one special night. On Sunday, December 2nd we will feature seasonal food and drink, sing-alongs, holiday carols, piñatas and much more. This year we will have two piñatas, with one designated especially for our youngest celebrants.

Our posada journey will proceed around various points on our campus, ending in a grand celebration in the Parish Hall. All ages, from kids to grandparents, will enjoy this spiritual entrance to the Christmas season.

Please sign up in the Parish Hall or call the office at 510-797-1492 by November 18th as seating is limited to 120 participants. A 'free-will' donation of $5.00 per person is suggested; 9 years and under are free.

If you would like to help with decorating, food, preparation, etc., please contact John Maloney at (510) 656-6809 no later than November 18th.

Need transportation? Please contact either Gary Gearheart at 510-894-1496 or Brad Hoffman at 510-790-3125 no later than November 27th.

We hope you can join us in what has become a favorite St. James' tradition.

Family Advent Craft

The season of Advent will soon be upon us. One of the traditions at St. James' we have is to come together as a community and enjoy making the family Advent centerpiece.

You can purchase your kit in the Parish Hall on Sunday, November 25th at 9:00am. Please stay and decorate your wreath with greenery and embellishments, or if you wish, you can take it home to finish. A $10.00 donation to cover costs is appreciated but is not mandatory. Fresh greens, tiny cones, berries and ribbons will help to "make the season bright." Kits include a brass wreath form with four candle cups; one pink and three purple candles.

Please join us and make this a holiday tradition in your family.

Time to Nominate Vestry and Deanery Representatives

At our Annual Meeting in January we will elect four new members to the Vestry and two Deanery Representatives. Do you know someone in the congregation who would be a good candidate? Would you like to run for one of these positions yourself? We want to hear from you!

The Vestry consists of 12 members who serve 3 year terms; four new members will replace the four who retire. The Vestry's official responsibilities as defined by the Episcopal Church are to manage the business of the church in areas of finance and buildings, and to fill church leadership positions.

Four Deanery Delegates serve 2 year terms; two new members join and two members retire each year. They represent the parish at quarterly Deanery meetings and the Diocesan Convention.

If you would like to nominate someone or throw you own name in the ring for one of these positions, please contact any current member of the Vestry.

Janet Fischer, Sr. Warden

Christmas at Hillside

Gifts to the residents at Hillside Senior Care Center will be delivered on Wednesday, December 5th. There is much to do before that day arrives, such as making the gift tags and putting out the GIVING TREES. Notices will be posted a week before the GIVING TREES are put out.
