Into Lent We Enter

There is no other season in the Christian calendar that asks us to rise to such heights as Lent. Advent calls us to prepare for a birth and Easter opens the door to celebrate a new kind of birth, but Lent asks us to examine, fall into, and claim death before we can embrace, expand with, and rejoice in life. During Lent, we slow down for forty days so that we might turn inward for the purpose honing the soul and purging the superfluous. It is through the intense process of allowing things to die that gives us the assurance that what is God-centered will always live. Ultimately, Lent is meant for the Resurrection, and while the Jewish Passover marks "God with us" at a point in history, the Christian Easter marks "God with us" in the past, with us now, and with us at a time to come as well.

So this season goes beyond a ritual, it is more than a place marker between Epiphany and Easter. This season is our opportunity to deeply examine who Jesus is to us from the inside-out, to ask ourselves what changes can be made so that we are closer to the person God created us to be and what practices can be embraced to guide us along the road.

Begin the journey by receiving ashes on your forehead on Ash Wednesday. Let the church outwardly mark you as a follower of Christ so that you have a touchstone to begin the inward marking of the next forty days. Begin a new practice of prayer, or strengthen the one you have. Give in a way you've never given, repair and amend what needs to be healed. Make a conscious choice to do something different for the purpose of transforming something within you. If what you do this Lent makes no lasting change or no difference beyond Good Friday, then question what you are doing and why you are doing it. Make the effort meaningful in that it makes a difference beyond the forty days.

Fourteenth century mystic, Julian of Norwich says, "By contrition we are made clean; by compassion, ready; and by a genuine longing for God, worthy. It is by means of these three that souls can attain heaven, as I understand it. By these medicines it is necessary for every soul to be healed. Though healed, the soul's wounds are still seen by God, not as wounds but as honorable scars."

Contrition for when we've turned away, compassion towards self and towards others, and longing for the one who is with us now and forevermore. These are the elements of Lent, the stones on the pathway towards Easter. I look forward to walking with you.

A JOURNEY
through Lent

Use Your Time Wisely

Each of us has been given enough time to accomplish God's purpose for us. The Scriptures encourage us to invest our time wisely, reminding us that God determines the length of our stay on earth. "Be very careful, then, how you live, not as unwise but as wise, making the most of every opportunity, because the days are evil." (Ephesians 5:15-16) Toward the end of his life, Moses prayed, "Teach us to number our days that we may gain a heart of wisdom" (Psalms 90:12). Time is our most valuable asset, but without a proper perspective, we often spend it foolishly. A biblical perspective on time involves several things:

1. Life is brief, and we cannot be presumptuous about the future. ("Why, you do not even know what will happen tomorrow." James 4:14)
2. Like other assets, our time is owned by God. ("My times are in your hands." Psalms 31:15)
3. We must be sensitive to opportunities so that we can make the most of them. ("Be wise in the way you act toward outsiders, make the most of every opportunity." Colossians 4:5)
4. Our use of time will reflect our priorities. ("Do not store up for yourselves treasures on earth...But store up for yourselves treasures in heaven...do not worry about tomorrow." Matthew 6:19-21,34)

Just as it is wise to budget our financial resources, it is also wise to budget our use of time. Most time is wasted not in hours, but in minutes. If we do not regularly assess the way we spend our 168 hours per week, our schedules will get cluttered with activities that may be good, but not always the best. How much quality time do we spend with the Lord, with our spouse or partners, with our children, and with our friends? God wants us to be faithful stewards, not squanderers, of the time God has given us.

I encourage you to take a look at your own 168-hour week. What areas need to be trimmed down? Where might you spend more of your time? Where does St. James' fit into your week? How much time do you spend with your Lord?

Lord, you have given us so much. We pray that we will balance what we need with what we want. And we pray that our choices will in turn benefit others.

!! Chip in for Chairs !!

Think the chairs in the Main Church could use a little up-dating? Find that half-way through the service, you're feeling a little uncomfortable (and it has nothing to do with the sermon)? You are invited to Chip in for Chairs! From now until Holy Week, we are raising money to reupholster our pew chairs in the Main Church. Consider donating $80 towards a chair, put a check to St. James' (marked "pew chairs") in the box at the back of the Church, and place a blue sticker on the chart so we can track our progress. Look for a spiffed-up sanctuary on Easter!

Pledge Update

As of the Annual Meeting, 102 pledges, for a total of $269,956 were received ($239,730 for Operating and $30,226 for Building). Pledge cards are available in the Church office (call 797-1492 to have one sent to you) and may be turned in at any time during the year. Please note that a pledge may be adjusted (up or down) at any time during the year by contacting the Church Treasurer. Thank-you to everyone who has turned in their Pledge card for 2012!

The Imposition of Ashes February 22nd

The Season of Lent begins with this most somber service where we are invited into a time of penitence, fasting and self-examination.

Join us at one of the services offered on this day: 7:00am and 12:00 pm in the Little Church and 7:00pm in the Main Church.

Church Frederick Buechner

If the church is not a place where we not only learn something about what it means to be human but also a place where seeds of a fuller humanity are planted in us and watered, to grow, then all our hymns and prayers and preachments are vanity.

The Next Voice You Hear.... St. James' Movie Night.... And Discussion

A small group of St. James' parishioners viewed the groundbreaking 1950 movie, "The Next Voice You Hear," Friday night January 13 in EB-1 with drinks and popcorn. Groundbreaking because it depicted everyday people in authentic situations....when they hear the voice of God over the radio. Groundbreaking because it was shot in fourteen days and completed in another six weeks, a record for the time. Groundbreaking because it use virtually unknown actors, James Whitmore, Jr. and Nancy Davis to make the situation seem more authentic – you weren't watching the stars of an epic movie, just regular people.

Discussion followed the movie centering on the believability of the premise and the changes wrought in the main character, Joe, who had been caught up in the living of his ordinary life and not liking it. His job not exciting, his wife pregnant again, his income not adequate, his son a handful – pretty humdrum. Does he change? What, you missed the movie?

Maybe you can catch the next movie in the series – “Our Vines Have Tender Grapes” a 1945 movie starring Margaret O'Brien and Edward G. Robinson in which a Norwegian farmer (Robinson in an uncharacteristic role) lovingly raises his daughter (O'Brien) in rural turn-of-the-century Benson Junction, Wisconsin until tragedy strikes. Agnes Moorehead's supporting role as Mama is memorable. We remind you to bring your own popcorn and drinks to the Friday, February 10, 7 PM showing in EB-1; and admission is Free. Discussion afterwards usually is a highlight of the showing. We should have you out for home by 9:30 pm or so.

A Service of Ashes for Children & Youth Tuesday, February 21, 6:45pm in the Little Church

Ash Wednesday Services are often too "adult" for our younger members to get a full experience of the ritual. Following the Shrove Tuesday celebration, we are offering a child-oriented service where we will introduce the concepts of Lent and offer ashes to children & youth. Though grown-ups are welcome to participate as well, note that this service is specifically designed for children and not meant to replace the traditional Ash Wednesday services taking place the following day.

Books, Meditation and Lent

February 5 EB-1 9:15 AM Books You May Know and Love

Bob Bell reviews  Casting Off  by Nicole Dickson (Jean Dickson's daughter) – On a tiny island off the west coast of Ireland, a fisherman hand knits sweaters and Rebecca arrives to research the different stitches used in the sweaters. .

Marnie Hartmann reviews  The Red Tent  by Anita Diamant – Using Genesis the author has developed a fictional story that is a sympathetic and believable account of women's lives many, many years ago. She uses Jacob's daughter Dinah (Dee-nah) (Chapter 34) to tell stories of her mothers and grandmothers including Rachel and Leah. The underlying theme is that child bearing gave women power and the red tent is where they bonded.

Andy MacRae reviews  The Screwtape Letters  by C.S. Lewis – Screwtape, a senior demon, writes his nephew Wormwood, a junior tempter giving him tips to secure the damnation of a man called The Patient.

February 12 and 19 Brian Cochran and Sylvia Ma - Meditation

Join Sylvia and Brian in some simple exercises to better your body and mind. They will start with warm-up exercises to loosen-up muscles and joints and improve balance and flexibility. Next will come breathing exercises to relax body and mind. Then learn from them basic Standing/Sitting Meditation called I Chuan (Mind Boxing). Then Eight Brocades will be introduced, a moving meditation, followed by a martial arts form called Quang Ping Tai Chi, a moving meditation set. Again EB-1 at 9:15 AM.

Please note that  no experience in these forms is necessary . Just wear comfortable clothing and shoes. Come to one or both classes. Have fun and learn some relaxing exercises that you can do at home sitting down or standing up. Treat your body and expand your mind.

Lenten Evening Series begins Sunday Morning – The Rev. Lori Walton – February 26

Go take a Hike

On the last day of 2011, Lynn and I along with Barbara Dabney joined 27 others to hike (really more of a ramble) in the Muir Woods National Park. The Holy Hike program was organized by The Rev. Justin Cannon (he was just very recently ordained) and he organizes hikes on the fourth Saturday of the month. This one was pushed back a week because of Christmas. The hikes incorporate a communion service and this particular one also included the Litany of Healing and Anointing. The weather was great and it was a wonderful experience to walk and talk with others as well as contemplate and reflect in what John Muir would have called 'one of God's first temples.' The schedule of hikes along with additional information is posted at www.holyhikes.org/.

A Deacon's work is crucial to bringing the sacred into the world, to move beyond the walls of the church and bring the Good News of Christ to those who need the comfort and peace of knowing God's presence. Bob Dobbin, a deacon in our church, does just that. Because of his physical location, his ministry is centered closer to his home in Danville. To give us a fuller picture of his ministry, I asked him to write a piece about his work with hospice.

- Lori Walton

Much of my ministry involves visiting with patients who are in the care of Hospice of the East Bay, which is headquartered in Pleasant Hill. The relationship with a patient can last for as short a time as a single visit or, in a recent case, for as long as 15 months.

As with most pastoral care, the basic approach involves (i) focusing solely on the patient and, figuratively speaking, meeting him/her where he/she is and without judgment, (ii) trying to discern what his/her needs are, and (iii) then doing one's best to meet those needs. The needs vary from patient to patient. For some, prayer, conversation about scripture, or conversation about how God has worked in their lives seems to be helpful. For others, however, simple listening, a gentle touch, a quiet bedside presence, or silently pushing the patient around and around her backyard in a wheelchair seems to fill the bill.

Perhaps the most surprising thing for me has been that the sense of God's presence has very little to do with the presence or absence of theological content in the visit. For example, that presence can be felt just as often, and just as intensely, in silence or in a soft touch as it can in the case of prayer or detailed discussion of scripture. At least from my perspective, all quite remarkable.

LENTEN EVENING SERIES: A LOOK AT THE PROPHETS IN CONTEMPORARY CULTURE

It starts February 26, Sunday morning at 9:15 AM in EB-1 – first session is Sunday because the Lent is five weeks and the series consists of six sessions.

Then the series jumps to Tuesday evenings from 6 to 8 PM,

February 28

March 6

March 13

March 20

March 27

Begin each evening with a Soup Supper in EB-1 followed at 6:45 PM with a DVD presentation and group discussion.

What is it all about? Bouncing off the work of renowned Old Testament Scholar Walter Brueggemann, we will look at the contemporary significance and relevance of the Old Testament Prophets as voice of the importance of covenant relationship and moral purity in a world of power, money and violence.

Sign up on the sheet in the Parish Hall. When you sign up, the book (see below) will be ordered for you. Please donate $10 for the cost of the book; however no one will be turned away from the series if they cannot furnish the donation. Get your book from Bruce Roberts, Checks made out to him. Along with the sign-up sheet there will be a food sign-up as well – for soup or bread or drinks. Final attendance figures (for food purposes) will be posted February 19th.

The book, Embracing the Prophets: in a Contemporary Culture, takes the reader on a wild ride through the poetic prophesy of the Hebrew Scripture, identifying cultural contexts, putting a framework to Israel's history, and drawing connections between Israel's sociological, economic and spiritual status and that of America today.

Challenge yourself this Lent and participate in this class led by the Rev. Lori Walton. Who were the Old Testament Prophets and what can they tell me today?

John McCutcheon Concert Review, January 16, 2012

Tired. A good tired. For those who worked on Tuesday, the Martin Luther King Monday concert may have run too long. But what a concert! From 7:30 'til 10:30 PM, story and song, one after another, touching different people in unknown ways, John sang to us and with us, played eight instruments including himself, told stories for us and on himself. Comments like "Best Concert Ever" were overheard as very tired people exited the Big Church for their trip home to places as far away as Monterey and Berkeley, as close as a few blocks from the church.

Woody Guthrie songs from his newest CD found their way into the list of songs many wanted to hear John sing again. Like pepper, a couple of stinging political songs surprised the folks listening ("Corporations Are People, Too" and "I Didn't Make the List") bringing hearty laughs from the audience. On the coldest day of the year so far, John sang "Soup," a song of winter and family, a song that the audience has requested every year of the nine that John has appeared at St. James'. Most songs started with a story, each story giving deeper meaning to the song following it. The request "Hope Dies Last" started with the story of his work with Studs Terkel and completed itself after Hurricane Katrina.

An electricity of sorts inhabited the packed "Club Saint J" during the concert. Buzz during the intermission reverberated with discussion of the songs John had sung so far and hope for songs requested. Happy faces exited the concert, John and the audience shared warm feelings as they departed their separate ways.

2011 Annual Meeting

The meeting was called to order by the Rev. Lori Walton following the morning worship service. In her talk, she announced that she was excited and proud over how well the St. James' is doing and thanked all for this performance. She also thanked Mary Casas (retiring senior warden), Jan Brandt (retiring treasurer), our deacons Bob Dobbin and Bill Mosier and the Rev. Jim McLeod, and the other retiring Vestry members: Marlene Benedict, Greg Scheuffele and Dean Valentine.

Jan Brandt has done a wonderful job as treasurer but it was also recognized that the work involved in keeping track of income, paying bills, creating reports and filing forms was too much work for one individual. Consequently, Lori announced that in the future, Joan Roberts and Gail Blalock would be responsible for Accounts Receivable, Mary Casas would handle Accounts Payable and that Lynn Locher would be the new treasurer. However, note that Mary Casas would only be issuing checks on Fridays.

She also took the occasion to announce a new campaign, named 'Chip in for Chairs,' to reupholster the church pews, which also includes new cushioning. The suggested donation is $80 per chair and she made the first donation.

Dave Nelsen, chair of the Endowment Board, distributed three checks from the income produced by our endowment as follows: $761 to the Special Interest Fund, $457 to the Memorial Garden Fund, and $305 to the Little Church Fund. He also announced that the Board has decided to transfer the Endowment Fund to the Episcopal Church Foundation to take advantage of their knowledge and expertise, greater security and lower management fees.

Four new vestry persons were elected unanimously and they are Bob Bynum, Mike Scrutton, Bud Spalding and Beverly Cannon Mosier. Barbara Dabney and Jim McConnell are our new Deanery Representatives.
