Demystifying Stewardship | Why I Volunteer

Written by Charisma Pangilinan

I have memories from an early age of my mother commanding me to help, for example, to immediately get up and clean, or to pick up dishes after a group meal. My siblings and I were taught young not to wait to be told. "Use your eyes," my mom would say. "You can see what needs to be done." I am confident that's where the value of being helpful comes from for me.

Similarly, at age 16, during my first job, my manager at McDonald's refused to allow just standing around during a shift. "You're being paid," he'd say, "So you should be working." Even as a young adult, while working at my first corporate job, my manager coached me to be proactive, and I was recognized by the department vice president for my initiative. I guess it all stuck.

For me, stewardship is a form of helping, and it takes work. Stewardship requires intention. One has to give up one's time, energy, and attention, perhaps even money. Beyond that, it requires a willingness to make something better by one's own efforts, but I feel this is much easier for things I love and care about.

It seems like a simplistic answer, but if I'm asked why I volunteer at St. James', be it as an usher, a cook for Abode Services, or as a member of the Vestry, my first answer is, "Because I can." I can see areas where I know I can contribute, and I'm willing to give of my time and effort to do so.

I've often thought of St. James' as a potluck church. Everyone contributes to its celebration and success, or rather everyone could. Everyone has gifts to share, and there are many opportunities to become involved.

"Many hands make light work." That certainly applies to tasks such as moving furniture, which is a frequent need at St. James'. But it also applies to offering support to the grieving and brokenhearted. The more "hands" of support, perhaps through prayer, kind words, sincere hugs, and laughter extended to people in need, the better able we are to lighten their loads of pain or anxiety, even if only a little.

We have an expectation that things will just work. When we turn on a faucet, we expect water to pour out. We expect the lights to turn on when we flip a switch. But it takes intention to make these things work.

Similarly, at church, we expect candles, flowers, music, liturgy, and lessons read aloud. We expect bread and wine to be offered for Communion, Sunday School for the children, outreach to our neighboring communities, and so on. The truth is none of these things happen through miracles. There are volunteers behind each one of them. At St. James', many ministries contribute to keeping the church thriving.

My mom used to say, "If you want to eat, you have to help cook." So, we helped cook. Now I say, if you want to be part of a wonderful, welcoming community church, then help make it that way.

Because you can.

This is one in a series for 2023, written by current members of the vestry. It is our goal through these monthly messages to share what Stewardship means to each of us.

Being in community is hard. We come together from different backgrounds, different experiences, and different hurts. And yet, as the Body of Christ, called to be in loving communion with one another, we strive to create healthy and life-affirming relationships. Several years ago, the vestry adopted the following 10 Rules for Respect. It offers excellent guidelines for how to conduct oneself, not only for the vestry, but for the entire community. I commend it to you as we work to create the Beloved Community here at St. James'.

10 Rules for Respect

Adapted from Bishop Gregory Rickel, Diocese of Olympia

1. If you have a problem with somebody, go directly to that person (privately).

2. If someone has a problem with another person and comes to you, send them to the person they have a problem with.

3. If someone consistently will not go to the person they're having a problem with, say to them, "Let's go to John/Jim/Mary (whomever) together. I am sure she/he will see us about this."

4. Be careful how you interpret another person; let the person him/herself do that. On matters that are unclear, do not feel pressured to interpret another's feelings or thoughts. It is easy to misinterpret intentions.

5. If it's confidential, don't share it with others. If anyone comes to you in confidence, don't tell another unless a) the person is going to harm himself/herself, b) the person is going to physically harm someone else, c) a child has been physically or sexually abused.

6. Do not respond to unsigned letters or notes. Do not engage in writing anonymous letters or notes to others.

7. Do not respond to claims that begin with "I speak on behalf of many" when the "many" is anonymous. Do not purport to "speak on behalf of many."

8. Avoid "parking lot meetings." When a meeting ends, if there is more to be said, hold it until the meeting convenes again rather than having side conversations in the parking lot.

9. Do not manipulate and do not be manipulated by others. Avoid talking "at" people. Leave conviction to the Holy Spirit. (She does it better anyway!)

10. When in doubt, just say it. The only dumb questions are those that don't get asked. We are a family here and we care about each other, so if you have a concern, pray, and then (if led) speak up. If a question is asked of you, answer it if you can, but only if it can be answered without misrepresenting something, someone, or breaking confidence.

UPCOMING EVENTS & OPPORTUNITIES

Loving Our Neighbor Diocese(s) | Project ReStart

Elaine Vallecillo-Miller | Diocesan Disaster Preparedness and Response Committee

The vestry decided to participate in the Diocesan Disaster Preparedness and Response Committee's social outreach project: Project Restart (PReS) whereby a congregation picks a type of bin—a total of 10—cleaning, kitchen, bathroom, or bedroom and fills them with specific items that are listed in the PReS's guide. St. James' along with St. Alban's, Albany, St. Paul's, Oakland, and Church of Epiphany, San Carlos, will kick off before the introduction at the October's Diocesan Convention. This is the Miracle of Loaves and Fishes in action.

Diocesan Convention Resolution Discussion

Submitted by EJ Hilliard & St. James' Deanery Delegates

St James' congregational pre-convention Resolution Discussion will be held on Sunday, September 24th at 9:15 am, with the location/room to be determined (will be announced through parish communications).

Please bring comments and questions and share views with our Parish Deanery Representatives/ Convention Delegation.

For your convenience, you may download these draft documents at www.diocalconvention.org/2023resolutions.

Please feel free to bring your copies or electronic devices to this session. For those who may not have electronic access to DioCal's website, a few copies may be available in the narthex of the Big Church starting Sunday, September 3rd.

This discussion is very important for the St James' congregation to convey our wishes as to how our delegation votes on these items at the Diocesan Convention in November.

The four resolutions to be voted on are:

- To Add Howard W. Thurman to the Episcopal Church Calendar
- Addressing Gun Violence to Safeguard Our Youth
- Legislative Themes for the 81st General Convention
- Migration with Dignity

We sincerely look forward to seeing you at this sharing conversation with our elected Deanery/Convention Delegation. Thank you!

Faith & Friendship Dinner Groups

Returning This Fall

Want to get to know and have fun with more folks at St. James? Dinner Groups are gatherings of 8 people who share dinner 4 times a year. The purpose is to broaden and deepen the social connections of newer members of the parish and help even "old- timers" get to know folks from the "other service."

The group meets for dinner 4 times a year, in each other's homes, or at the parish. The hosts provide the main dish while the others bring an appetizer, a side dish, or dessert.

The first meeting date will be proposed by the "kick-off pair" and the rest of the dinner dates will be set at the first dinner.

You can sign up HERE or in the Parish Hall, from September 3 through September 24, with the first dinner taking place in mid- to late-October. Parishioners can sign up as couples or individuals, (if you're single, we'll pair you up) and will be assigned at random to a group. The purpose of Foyer Groups is not to have groups of friends sign up together, but to "mix it up."

It's a fun way to get to know one another better, particularly the newer members of our wonderful community.

VESTRY MEETING HIGHLIGHTS

Submitted by Bev Mosier

Meg Amouroux opened in prayer at 7:00PM.

New and Continuing Business

- Presentation re: Project (Re)Start by Elaine Vallecillo-Miller (in-person) and Mark Dibilka (via Zoom), the Diocese of California's Missioner for Disaster Resilience. Churches within a diocese each fill and store specified types of bins for people who lose homes in disasters, so that supplies are immediately available when needed. The vestry voted for St. James' to purchase 10 bins to fill with bedroom items. So far, three other churches have also stepped up to provide bathroom, kitchen, and cleaning supplies.
- July Vestry minutes, financial reports, and staff and ministry reports were all approved.
- The Vestry viewed the trailer for the Philadelphia Eleven Documentary (about the first ordination of female priests) which will be released November 1 st . We will show it at St. James' Saturday, December 9, 4-6PM in the Big Church. Lori paid $500 to reserve ours with her personal credit card. We voted to reimburse her now for the $500 from the Fundraiser Clearing, then raise money to replenish it.
- The Vestry approved the use of "ClickSend," one of the apps Samir previously researched, for texting to whole groups within the parish, as well as parish wide. We do not anticipate implementing this until later in the year or the beginning of next year.
- We brainstormed ideas for stewardship this fall. One idea to be implemented is that four Vestry members will give mini-sermons with a stewardship theme on November 19th: 8:00 – Bev and Meg, 10:30 Vivienne and Charisma.
- It is our honor to have been chosen as a "Meet and Greet" site for the Candidates for the next Bishop of California 6-8PM on Saturday, November 4.
- Beginning September 10, our new seminarian, Karla Koon, will join us.

The meeting was adjourned at 8:45 and Meg Amouroux led us in Compline.

The Vestry usually meets on the 3rd Thursday of each month at 7:00 PM. The same pre-pandemic format is being followed as per usual, and meetings are now hybrid with in-person and remote attendees. Draft agendas are published in advance on our parish website.

Prayers We Pray

Written by Brian Cochran

"Rejoice in hope, be patient in suffering, persevere in prayer."

Romans 12:12

I was going to write an article about the Hebrew and other foreign words in our prayers, giving some translation and commentary. But I have thought better of it and decided to begin a series on the prayers in our services from the Book of Common Prayer. A lot of them have Latin titles like the Gloria, the Sanctus, or Greek loan words like the Eucharistic Prayer. Not surprisingly, our prayers are infused with Scripture, and so, if we know the prayers by heart, we have taken in a lot of the Bible, maybe unbeknownst to us!

Often the first prayer on Sunday or other gatherings is the first hymn, the processional hymn. The beginning spoken prayer is usually the "Collect for Purity" which I would like to talk about here. You all know it; it's the one that starts, "Almighty God, to you all hearts are open . . ." In the worship bulletin for the 10:30 services, John Wagas tells us in the margin that this prayer was written in the 11th century and translated by Thomas Cranmer for the 1549 Prayer Book Bulletin (p. 4). I was surprised to discover a slightly different translation as the opening prayer of the famous contemplative work, The Cloud of Unknowing (14th century, anonymous author). This placement demonstrates the value of this prayer to me. It is a prayer for a devoted follower of Jesus Christ, for a person persevering in prayer.

The prayer speaks, as all true prayers do, directly to God. God is addressed directly and yet reverently as "you." We are bold to say "you" because the One we are addressing is both Almighty and all-knowing: all hearts are open to you! How can we, as small, flawed human beings speak to the all-powerful Creator of the universe? We can only do so based on the revelation that God, while being Transcendent beyond everything, is also loving and full of grace for us, the created beings. We have faith that there is such a thing as God and that this Being is gracious and compassionate. In addition, we have faith that God is Everywhere and can hear us. How else would our prayers matter?

After we acknowledge God Almighty and that all hearts are open to, all desires known to, and no secrets are hid from God (see Hebrews 4:12-13), we make a request in the prayer. This is the second half of the prayer, of basically every prayer. First comes the address. Then comes the request. And what is the request? "Cleanse the thoughts of our hearts." Now this first word of the request is obviously important as it indicates a need for a change. Something is amiss. Can we say that something is not clean, unclean? It's quite a lot to say something like this, "Cleanse, make clean" because it's a confession, it's an acknowledgment of a problem. In our conversation with God, right here at the beginning of the public worship, we are admitting all is not right in our hearts. We need help! We need God to go to work and straighten out our thoughts! We seem to have gone astray from God, so we are re-expressing our faith in Almighty and All-knowing God and that we cannot hide from God like Adam and Eve tried to do. We are asking for God's forgiveness for forgetting God (see Psalm 51).

How this cleansing happens is recognized next: "By the inspiration of your Holy Spirit." Each of us, as shown in the sign of our baptism, has been sealed by the Holy Spirit, forever, filled with the Holy Spirit (Galatians 4:6). Inspiration in this case is more than just a nice positive feeling to do something good. Inspiration means, literally, "in-breathing." God has breathed His/Her Spirit into us, like when Adam was created: "the LORD God formed man from the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and the man became a living being" (Genesis 2:7). The Holy Spirit cries out within us to the Omnipotent God in heaven so that we can live as Jesus Christ did on earth: "that we may perfectly love you, and worthily magnify your holy Name." The prayer comes full circle, from God, to us and our need of God's grace, and back to God through the Holy Spirit, that we may love God as Christ's own body on earth. Amen.

First article in a series on the prayers of our church.

GOD, unto whom all hearts be open, and unto whom all will speaketh, and unto whom no privy thing is hid. I beseech Thee so for to cleanse the intent of mine heart with the unspeakable gift of Thy grace, that I may perfectly love Thee, and worthily praise Thee. Amen.

Prayer of the Prologue of The Cloud of Unknowing, published by Evelyn Underhill, 2nd ed., London, 1922

Men's Trip 2023

Written by Greg Feeney

The Men's Group had another successful get together for the Summer of 2023. A group of 10 guys spent time fishing, golfing, visiting a car show, a visit to the logging museum, and ended with wine tasting. As usual, we ate well and divided the chores evenly amongst the group.

We reflected on the former attendees who have passed or could not attend due to health issues. Next year our goal is 14 attendees. This year's group shared some great stories from the past. We had 7 guys from St James' and 3 former members.

We want to bring up younger guys from the congregation, and we know family commitments come first.

Next year we are planning on heading to Groveland so we can be close to Yosemite and a chance to see new scenery. I will start looking at new places this year and come up with some viable options. We may want to do a visit this year to check out places to see if they have parking limitations and places big enough to hold a large group or rent 2 homes near each other.

If you have an interest for the 2024 Men's Group, then send me an email dgfeeney@comcast.net or call 510 506 2303.
